

Making room for every voice

The skill of hosting conversations · name: _____ · date: _____

Groups shape much of school life, from friendships and group chats to lessons and teams. A group works more fairly when participation does not depend on being the quickest or loudest person in the room. Collaboration asks us to contribute and to notice what would help others contribute too.

What we are practising

By the end of this lesson, you can use a question, an invitation or a short silence to help more people take part in a group task.

During the activity

Everyone in: notes, noticings, or nothing at all. This sheet is yours.

Take it with you

In what kinds of group tasks might one hosting move, such as asking an open question or allowing a short silence, help more people take part?

Exit ticket · Making room for every voice

According to the lesson, what is collaboration mainly about?

- a) Winning the argument with the best idea
- b) Helping the whole group think together so good ideas can come out
- c) Being the loudest person in the room
- d) Making sure one person leads every decision

I can take part in a shared group task in a way that helps everyone get a voice, using at least one hosting move, such as asking an open question or allowing a short silence.

☐ more than before ☐ about the same

In what kinds of group tasks might one hosting move, such as asking an open question or allowing a short silence, help more people take part?

Exit ticket · Making room for every voice

According to the lesson, what is collaboration mainly about?

- a) Winning the argument with the best idea
- b) Helping the whole group think together so good ideas can come out
- c) Being the loudest person in the room
- d) Making sure one person leads every decision

I can take part in a shared group task in a way that helps everyone get a voice, using at least one hosting move, such as asking an open question or allowing a short silence.

☐ more than before ☐ about the same

In what kinds of group tasks might one hosting move, such as asking an open question or allowing a short silence, help more people take part?

Exit ticket · Making room for every voice

According to the lesson, what is collaboration mainly about?

- a) Winning the argument with the best idea
- b) Helping the whole group think together so good ideas can come out
- c) Being the loudest person in the room
- d) Making sure one person leads every decision

I can take part in a shared group task in a way that helps everyone get a voice, using at least one hosting move, such as asking an open question or allowing a short silence.

☐ more than before ☐ about the same

In what kinds of group tasks might one hosting move, such as asking an open question or allowing a short silence, help more people take part?

Exit ticket · Making room for every voice

According to the lesson, what is collaboration mainly about?

- a) Winning the argument with the best idea
- b) Helping the whole group think together so good ideas can come out
- c) Being the loudest person in the room
- d) Making sure one person leads every decision

I can take part in a shared group task in a way that helps everyone get a voice, using at least one hosting move, such as asking an open question or allowing a short silence.

☐ more than before ☐ about the same

In what kinds of group tasks might one hosting move, such as asking an open question or allowing a short silence, help more people take part?
